TAIPEI, Formosa (AP) — Typhoon Judy blew out into the Pacific Monday night, leaving one person dead in southern Formosa, four others missing and eight injured. Police said three of the injured were in serious condition.

The typhoon, with winds up to 80 miles an hour, caused heavy but not disastrous damage to banana plantations, crippled the electric power system in the port of Kaohsiung and caused low-level flooding.

Dauphin was the title of the oldest son of the king of France.

Says State No Problem Area

LITTLE ROCK (AP)—Arkansas is not a problem area in the eye of the federal Equal Employment Opportunity Commission, Dr. Luther Holcomb, its chairman, indicated here Sunday.

The state is a long way from the top in the number of complaints received by the commission, he said at the baccalaureate service at Little Rock University.

Romania Train Wreck Kills 38

BUCHAREST, Romania (AP) — Transport Minister Dumitru Simulescu was fired Tuesday after a train wreck east of Bucharest in which 38 persons were killed and 65 others injured.

A government announcement after the accident accused Simulescu of "repeated cases of indiscipline."

Blood Pressure Range May Vary Widely

BY WAYNE G. BRANDSTADT, M.D.
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

Q—I am 57 years old and have high blood pressure. What should my pressure be? Would a cocktail before dinner be harmful? Would a large amount of salt on my food effect my blood pressure? Several years ago I read about a rice diet used at Duke University to control high blood pressure. What do you think of this diet?

A—The blood pressure varies widely. The upper (systolic) reading should be about 100 plus half your age but readings that are much higher may be observed and have no significance. The reading to watch is the lower (diastolic) level which should never be over 100.

Inasmuch as a cocktail may help you to relax it may lower your blood pressure slightly. Sodium as table salt or in any other form tends to increase your pressure.

The rice diet was highly successful in reducing blood pressure when properly administered but was too unpalatable for most persons and was deficient in protein. It has no advantage over a more liberal diet that is poor in sodium and is now rarely prescribed. Substitutes for table salt are now available for persons who don't like unsalted food.

pressure? Can it be cured? Are there any side effects from drugs given to reduce high blood pressure?

A—The cause of high blood pressure is not always apparent but nervous tension and obesity certainly aggravate it. Although a cure is unlikely it is both possible and advisable to control this condition. Many different drugs are used for this purpose and all of them may have undesirable side effects but, by skillfully adjusting the dosage and switching from one to another, your doctor can help you avoid these.

Q—My 18-year-old son gets excited when his blood pressure is taken and the doctor says it goes up to 190. He says he feels fine. What should he do about his high blood pressure?

A—You failed to say what the lower reading was. Many young persons have an unstable systolic pressure which is of little significance. If your son were to lie down and have his pressure taken every 15 minutes it would most likely return to normal in less than 30 minutes. As long as his diastolic pressure is within normal limits there is no cause for alarm.

Q—A friend has a blood pressure of 180 over 110. I didn't think a person could have so high a diastolic pressure and be able to work. Isn't she in danger of having a stroke?

A—High blood pressure does predispose to a stroke but it doesn't usually cause any warning symptoms. Your friend should be treated to bring her diastolic pressure down below 100.

Moscow's Lenin State Library contains approximately 20 million items, according to the Encyclopaedia Britannica.

COMING YOUR WAY SOON!

The biggest forward step in telephone communications since the invention of the dial system will soon be taken in Hope and Bodcaw.

We're speaking of one of the modern miracles of communication — Direct Distance Dialing — which will be available to all telephone users in Hope and Bodcaw beginning June 26... less than a month from now.

Direct Distance Dialing (we call it DDD) is the result of years of research and development by telephone scientists and engineers, and it makes dialing the telephone of a friend or relative across the state or across the nation almost like calling next door.

When DDD starts here, telephone users will be able to dial their own station-to-station long distance calls to any one of about 95 million telephones in cities throughout the United States.

Skilled telephone technicians are now testing the intricate equipment which will make DDD possible in Hope and Bodcaw on June 26.

We know you'll like DDD. With Direct Distance Dialing, you'll be only a few seconds away from your loved ones — no matter where they live in this nation — and your long distance calls will speed through faster than ever before.

This business of being careless about the play of the second trick is not confined to average players. Lots of experts are inclined to play too fast when the hand appears to be a cinch.

At both tables in an important match in England the bidding and play of the first two tricks went quickly and identically. Each declarer won the diamond opening with dummy's ace and led a trump to his ace. West was unkind enough to show out and play slowed down to a turtle's pace.

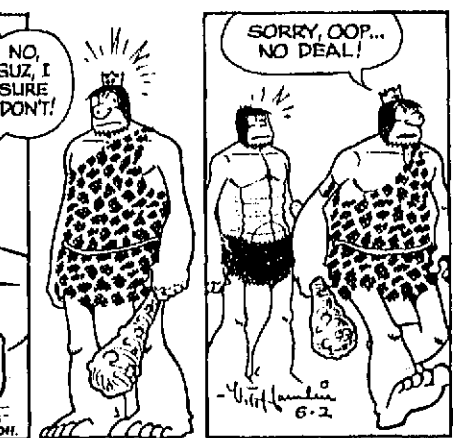

Eventually, each expert led a heart to dummy's queen. Then each led a heart back toward his own hand and played low after East produced the nine.

The East players proceeded to do a little celebrating of their own and came up with the killing lead of the queen of trumps.

The unfortunate Souths won with their kings and had the choice of death by hanging or shooting. They could ruff one losing heart in dummy but that play would establish East's nine of trumps and they would wind up losing one trump, one club and two hearts or they could pull East's last trump and lose three hearts and a club. You can't make four spades if you lose four tricks and both experts went down.

If either South had stopped for some real study before leading that first trump he would have had no trouble making his game. He would simply have led the queen of hearts from dummy to make it impossible for two trumps to be led before South was ready to ruff some hearts. Of course, this might have lost against some very bad break in hearts but there was less chance for it to happen than for the actual distribution.

Allen Can't Throw But He Hits Over 400

By HAL BOCK
Associated Press Sports Writer

Rich Allen can't throw over 60 feet, but he's having no difficulty hitting over 400.

Philadelphia's star third baseman, who missed 20 games with a dislocated right shoulder, is recuperating in the outfield and making the Phillies healthy with his bat.

Allen drove in four runs — three of them with a 447-foot home run — Wednesday night as the Phillies rallied for a 7-4 victory in the second game and completed a sweep of their doubleheader against Chicago. Philadelphia won the opener 4-3.

It was Allen's second 400-foot homer since returning to the lineup last week. He's had nine hits in 30 swings and shows a season's average of .338. With him back, the Phils have won six of eight.

Elsewhere Wednesday night, Willie Mays hit his 517th career homer as San Francisco edged Atlanta 4-3. Los Angeles blanked St. Louis 1-0 on Sandy Koufax' seven-hitter. Houston shut out Cincinnati 2-0 and Pittsburgh downed New York 3-1.

In the American League, Detroit whipped Minnesota 9-4. Chicago defeated New York 6-2. Washington split a doubleheader with Boston, winning 6-3 before losing 5-0. Kansas City dropped Cleveland 8-3 and Baltimore topped California 9-7 in 10 innings.

After Allen's tape measure homer, shortstop Bobby Wine broke the tie with the first of two doubles and then the Phillies pulled away.

In the first game, Tony Taylor's eighth inning single brought TBill White home with the winning run. Chicago's Lee Thomas was cut down at home plate on a relay from Tony Gonzalez to Dick Groat to Bob Uecker for the final out of the game as he tried to score the tying run.

Brodie Tosses the Ball to an Attorney

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Quarterback John Brodie of the San Francisco 49ers has thrown the ball to an attorney in lining up for his 1966 contract negotiations while the price war between pro football leagues rages.

The 31-year-old veteran, who set a National Football League completion record last season, engaged John Elliot Cook to represent him.

That came just a day after Don Klosterman, general manager for Houston in the American Football League, told of talks with the 49er star in the Texas city.

In San Francisco, that brought immediate speculation that the former Stanford great might be considering a switch of allegiance.

Brodie politely refused to discuss the situation. Asked about the Houston visit, he said, "I read a lot in the papers about the trip."

IT'S OFFICIAL — Indianapolis speedway officials made Graham Hill's Memorial Day 500 victory official disallowing the protest by runnerup Jimmy Clark, last year's winner

Husband Charged for Shooting Wife

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — Mrs. Martha Harris, 65, of Wrightsville was killed Wednesday by a pistol shot and Sheriff Frank Mackey said her husband had been charged with manslaughter.

Mackey said Jack Harris, 71, said he and Mrs. Harris struggled over a pistol during an argument over money. The sheriff said Harris said the weapon this discharged. The victim was struck in the head.

Arkansas Post Funds Approved

WASHINGTON (AP) — More funds for the Arkansas Post National Memorial in Southeast Arkansas have been approved by the House Interior committee.

The committee approved a bill Wednesday which would increase from $125,000 up to $550,000 the amount of money authorized to be spent on the development of the memorial.

The extra money would be used for the completion of a road and trail system, for construction for a visitor center and other improvements.

Podres Goes Route in Win for Detroit

By MIKE RATHET
Associated Press Sports Writer

It's taken two months — and two leagues — but Johnny Podres finally has pitched nine innings.

Podres, acquired from the Los Angeles Dodgers last month, continued his strong pitching for Detroit Wednesday night as he posted his second straight victory with 3 1-3 innings of one-hit relief, work in the Tigers' 9-4 triumph over Minnesota.

The 33-year-old left-hander now has made six appearances for the Tigers and allowed only four hits and two runs while running his work for the season to nine innings. Over the first month he had pitched only 1 2-3 innings for the Dodgers.

And he didn't like it. "I just want to go somewhere where I can pitch," Podres said when he was traded. "I threw the ball good all spring and my arm feels good now. But you get out of shape pitching 1 2-3 innings in a month."

Podres, who has been plagued the last two years by arm trouble, figured as a starter with the Dodgers during the Sandy Koufax-Don Drysdale holdout siege but became expendable when the Dodgers' ace signed. The Tigers grabbed him for cash and a player to be named later.

Against the Twins, Podres came on in the fourth inning with two men on and two out. He walked Jim Hall, but bore down and got Tony Oliva on a grounder to first. He allowed only a single by Harmon Killebrew before leaving for a pinch hitter in the eighth.

Elsewhere, Baltimore outlasted California 9-7 in 10 innings. Kansas City walloped Cleveland 8-3. The Chicago White Sox downed the New York Yankees 6-2 and Washington whipped Boston 6-3 before the Red Sox took their eighth cap 5-0.

In the National League, San Francisco edged Atlanta 4-3. Pittsburgh defeated the New York Mets 3-1, the Los Angeles Dodgers shut out St. Louis 1-0, Houston blanked Cincinnati 2-0 and Philadelphia swept the Chicago Cubs 4-3 and 7-4.

Al Kaline drove in four runs for the Tigers by Jerry Lumpe supplied the key hit with a two-run single in the seventh inning that snapped a 3-3 tie.

Jerry Adair won it for the Orioles with a tie-breaking pinch-hit single in the 10th after Baltimore had filled the bases on singles by Paul Blair and Dave Johnson and a walk to Andy Etchebarren. Luis Aparicio's sacrifice fly produced an insurance run.

Koufax Says Marichal Has Chance

ST. LOUIS (AP) — Sandy Koufax does not mind putting the hex on Juan Marichal and he gets paid for doing it to opposing hitters, but you won't find him jinxing himself.

"Sure Marichal has a chance to win 30," he laughed after blanking the St. Louis Cardinals 1-0 Wednesday night to stay one victory behind the San Francisco colubrier.

But asked about his own chances, dandy Sandy only reminded writers about last year. "You asked me then about Don Drysdale and myself and I gave you an answer," he said. "Then Don and I couldn't win a game for weeks."

But answer or not, Koufax is off to a better start at 9-1 than last season when he finished at 26-8. He did not win his ninth game last season until June 12. Koufax, who along with Marichal got off to a late start this year because of contract problems, indicated the best still is yet to come.

"This is the best I've thrown all year," he said after allowing the Cardinals only seven hits, several of the fluke variety. "I had a good fast ball, good curve and good control and even got a couple of fork balls in for strikes."

He lowered his earned run average to 1.48, still behind Marichal's 0.80 and 10-0 record. But both are ahead of the 1934 30-game pace of Dizzy Dean, last major leaguer to win 30.

"When Player Is Going Bad, Houk Will Be Around"

By SANDY PADWE
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

NEW YORK—(NEA)—Some athletes completely negate the manager's role in baseball.

Others, like most of the New York Yankees, magnify it, as is the case with Ralph Houk who has just returned to the dugout as manager.

It was a desperate move in a desperate situation. There was no other choice but to bring Houk back from the front office to replace Johnny Keane.

In the final analysis, Houk's return is a reflection on a group of men who were magnificent as winners but undignified as losers.

The realization hit after Keane, a quiet, introspective man, was fired for their collective failures.

"It's a shame," said Whitey Ford, "we never did anything for him."

And so Ralph Houk, who won three pennants in three years, is back in the clubhouse, a move which is leading to delusion in places where you'd hardly expect it.

Because no matter how loose Ralph Houk is to the Yankee players, no matter how loose they feel with him signing the lineup cards, the fact still is that Mickey Mantle, Whitey Ford and Elston Howard have been slowed by age and injury.

In addition, the bench isn't nearly as strong as previous years, neither is the bullpen and even more important, the farm system isn't producing the Yankee product of the 1940s and '50s.

Yet, there is a strong feeling that Houk can lift the Yankees back into the first division.

"I just spent a few days with the team," said former Yankee shortstop Tony Kubek, now a television announcer for the baseball game of the week. "The guys were really talking about the pennant. A few weeks earlier when I saw them they were very downtrodden and depressed."

"It's extremely hard to define just what makes Ralph the leader he is. It's an intangible thing."

"But he seems to understand. When a player is going bad, Ralph will be around. He understands your problems."

"He is the only man in baseball who I felt comfortable with when I had a problem."

"Where did this understanding come from? Maybe from all the years he spent as a bullpen catcher with the Yankees. He had limited ability and maybe he realized how difficult it is to play this game."

"The important thing about Ralph is that he is a leader without trying to be one. You just want to follow him because you know he's going to protect you when something goes wrong."

A lot of things are wrong at Yankee Stadium. The loss of Tony Kubek is a perfect example.

Ralph Houk may be a great leader, but can he replace a Kubek? Can he make Mantle well? Can he take four years off Whitey Ford's and Elston Howard's ages? Can he transform Ray Barker into a Johnny Mize?

Those are the pertinent questions at Yankee Stadium

Trainers Map Strategy to Beat Kauai

By ORLO ROBERTSON
Associated Press Sports Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — Trainers of nine 3-year-olds mapped to day the strategy which they hope will carry their finely turned thoroughbreds to victory Saturday in the 98th running of the Belmont Stakes and ruin favored Kauai King's bid for the turf's Triple Crown.

To some the strategy calls for sending their horses out in front at the start of the 1½ miles with the hope that they'll have enough left to win when they reach the home stretch.

To others the plans call for keeping Kauai King within range and hoping their horses can outfinish the winner of the Kentucky Derby and Preakness.

A third group includes those who'll have their horses trail far off the early pace and then attempt to strike fast in the stretch, when the leaders are expected to tire.

But to a man, the trainers agree that the best thing they have going for them is the last quarter-mile of Aqueduct's racing oval. They are not sure their charges can go 1½ miles. But neither are they sure that Kauai King can do it. None ever have raced that far and only one—King Ranch's Buffle—ever has worked the Belmont distance.

Canny Max Hirsch, who has saddled four Belmont winners, sent Buffle 1½ miles over Belmont Park's main track. His time was 2:37 3-5.

Michael Ford, owner of Kauai King, has remained confident. And well he should. The son of Native Dancer has never looked better. To that all trainers agree. He turned in an impressive workout Tuesday, going 11 miles in 1:54. And he has been made the 4-5 choice to earn the winner's share of $116,450 of a gross purse of $160,200.

Figures Strike to Cost $56 Million

LONDON (AP) — Britain's National Institute of Economic and Social Research said today that the national seamen's strike will cost the British economy $56 million a month in trade and other earnings if it continues.

The Mets' Ron Hunt—'Old Before His Time'

By DAVE BURGIN
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

NEW YORK—(NEA)—Wes Westrum just loves to talk about his veteran players and how they've kept the Mets flirting with .500 ball this spring.

"Oh, they've just been wonderful," the ebullient Westrum croons. "Confidence, that's the thing. They're showing my younger boys how a pro behaves in this game."

Westrum's veterans are Ken Boyer, 34; Roy McMillan, 35; Ed Bressoud, 34; Dick Stuart, 34; and Ron Hunt, 25.

Ron Hunt, 25? Those other guys have been around forever, but Hunt...

"Yes, indeed, Ron Hunt, 25," said Westrum. "He's a rare one. Old before his time. He's one of those guys who has got something down pat the first two or three times he tries it. He looks as if he's been in the majors 10 or 12 years, instead of just three."

If Boyer and the rest can come close to duplicating their best years, fine, Westrum says. But now their presence on the club is as much psychological as it is physical.

And Hunt embodies or personifies that psychology—that a young player's exposure to polished veterans can help smooth youth's rough edges.

"No question about it," Hunt said. "If I'm anything at all right now, it's because I had brains enough to keep my ears and eyes open around the men who know this game."

"Roy McMillan amazes me. I can't tell you how much I've learned from playing second base beside him."

"Now, I'm not saying I'm headed for the Hall of Fame mind you. But I will say I think I'm a bonafide major leaguer. I'm confident. I don't think in terms of messing up. Now when I mess up, I'm surprised."

U.S. Troops in Berlin Surrounded

By HUBERT J. ERB

BERLIN (AP) — John Hancock Hay and the 6,000 other soldiers of U.S. Army Berlin are surrounded. They stand watch 110 miles inside Communist East Germany.

Both Brig Gen. Hay and the soldiers of the Berlin Brigade are proud of their unique status. As one tanker sergeant put it, "Who else is surrounded by the Russians and gets away with it?"

Hay finds thing quieter than they were in the first 12 months after he arrived to take command, July 5, 1964.

"We've had our interesting moments, though," he adds, citing delays along the East Germany highway U.S. troops use going and coming from West Germany, illegal helicopter flights over West Berlin by the East Germans, and the "routine harassment" of U. S. patrols inside Communist East Berlin.

Since the U.S. forces in Berlin are not out looking for trouble, Hay considers it a job well done if there are no major difficulties in helping maintain West Berlin as a free society while guarding the Allies' rights and practices.

Hay is 48, dark-haired, 6 feet 1 and 178 pounds. A parachutist and holder of the Silver Star, he reached general rank despite his entering the army as a Reservist, not a regular. He became a soldier after having worked as a forest ranger in the rim district of Oregon's Crater Lake.

World War II was spent with the 10th Mountain Division. He rose from platoon leader to battalion commander and saw combat in Italy.

By war's end Hay was 27 and a lieutenant colonel.

He became a paratrooper at 42 and now has 70 jumps. He served as chief of staff of the 101st Airborne Division before doing a tour in Korea.

Promoted to brigadier general, he took over the Berlin Brigade, a command he considers the best in the Army for a one-star officer.

"I not only have a tactical command," he said, "I have my own support command, and the brigade does its own maintenance and budget planning. And there is the chance to work closely with the British and French as well as with the Germans."

Candidate Writes Book on Viet Nam

JONESBORO, Ark. (AP) — Lee Ward, who carried his congressional campaign to Viet Nam, has authorized a short book on his observations in South Viet Nam. The 36-page book goes on sale today.

"Ask Me Another About South Viet Nam" will sell for $1.35 a copy at newsstands in northeast Arkansas.

Ward, opposing Rep. E. C. Cathnes, D-Ark., in the 1st district, devotes 12 pages to what he saw in Viet Nam and 12 pages discussing the great of communism.

Burgin

"I think the tip-off is that now I'm even devising my own theories. Some work, some don't, but three years ago I never would have dreamed of trying something on my own."

Hunt is hitting over .300 again. He finished with a .303 average two years ago. Last year he played in only 57 games, sitting out the rest because of a finger injury and then a shoulder separation.

His fielding is heady, if not slick. His base running is superb, although he's not fast.

"I got a theory on base running," Hunt said. "The head-first slide is better than feet first. You run with your body leaning forward, so why reverse the action and throw your body backwards? Slide with your momentum, I say."

"The difference is about this much," he said, holding his hands six inches apart. "But this distance could mean another half dozen bases a year."

Hunt says his improved hitting has come from practicing the teachings of a veteran, he met in the minors—Paul Waner.

"Paul Waner taught me the 'quick belly button' method. This means you turn your body—hips and stomach—into the pitch as fast as you can. You get around on the ball faster if you want to pull, and you can see a pitch better if you want to slap it behind the runner."

Westrum says that all his vets stand for different things. Boyer does all things well, and is a leader besides. McMillan, the fielder, studies hitters so that not a step at shortstop is wasted. And Stuart, regardless of his reputation as a sluggish first baseman, goes to bat assured that he's a hitter.

"They make a tremendous combination of inspiration for the young ones," said Westrum.

Something must be happening. The Mets haven't been in last place this season.

And Ron Swoboda suddenly has stopped doing the watusi under a routine fly.

Hundreds Charged in Nigeria

LAGOS, Nigeria (AP) — Two hundred persons are being held on charges of disturbing the peace and unlawful assembly as a result of the violence last weekend in northern Nigeria.

Prosecutor Nathaniel Naponjo told the Kauna court 45 also have been charged with looting. All are being held for hearings July 7.

The Nigerian railways announced that service between Lagos and sections of the northern and eastern provinces has been disrupted, primarily because railway workers have fled their posts in the aftermath of the disorders. Road and air traffic is reported normal.

More than 60 Ibo tribesmen were reported killed and hundreds injured in the week-end rioting.

June Reminds the Weather Still Spring

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

June continued to remind Arkansas today that it is a spring month, not a summer month.

For the second day in a row, a record overnight minimum temperature was reported in Little Rock. The low reading was 52 degrees. The record had been 53 degrees, set in 1964.

The Weather Bureau said, however, that June should start acting more like its usual self today with a warming trend which is expected to hold through the weekend.

Maximum temperatures near 90 degrees are forecast for Friday.

Wednesday's maximums were generally in the 80s.

No rain was reported in the 24-hour period ending at 6 a.m. today but the forecast listed a chance of afternoon and evening showers through Friday.

Expects Rest to Gang Up on Sayers

By JACK HAND
Associated Press Sports Writer

New York (AP) — George Halas expects the rest of the league to gang up on Gale Sayers this coming season.

"They'd better," said the 71-year-old homer-coach of the Chicago Bears.

Halas was in town with other coaches in the National Football League for a two-day series of meetings with Mark Duncan, head of league officials.

"We know they are going to defend the heck out of Sayers, and rightfully so," said Halas. "I think it will open up other avenues of our offense. We expect it. We have been preparing for it all winter."

"It would not be fair to Sayers to expect him to have as great a year as last. But we do think we can open up a little more. We have Ron Bull back there and Andy Livingston, plus several others. And Johnny Morris on the flank and Jim Jones and Dick Gordon at split end."

As a rookie from Kansas, Sayers set a league record with 22 touchdowns last season and tied a one-game mark by scoring six touchdowns in one game against San Francisco on Dec. 5.

"I was on the other side both touchdowns before," said Halas. "Ernie Nevers got six against us with the old Chicago Cardinals and Dub Jones got six for Cleveland in a game with the Bears. This was by far the most spectacular."

"I will tell you something I never told before. The only reason Gale didn't get a chance to score a seventh when we had the ball on the four with two or three minutes to go, was that he had bruised his knee in the last quarter. He wanted to go in but I couldn't take a chance with a man's career."

Brings Written Word to Peru

By ROBERT COCHNAR
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

YARINACOA, Peru — (NEA) — And, suddenly, in the heart of the sticky Peruvian rain forests, you stumble upon suburbia, U.S.A.

The rambling, screened-in ranchers, the swimming hole, the 10-plane airport, the laundry, the "only a automated telephone system in Peru," the dozens of towheaded children gamboling in the meadow, remind the visitor of a perennially green Shaker Heights or Grosse Pointe.

Only the 250 residents of this planned community are not garden-variety suburbanites. The suburban trappings are there, true, but the lifetime work of these Americans is a bit unusual.

Since 1946, they have been analyzing and putting on paper some 30 Indian tongues which for centuries have been unwritten.

The place is called the Summer Institute of Linguistics at Yarinacocha. The dedicated men and women who live there are missionaries of the written word.

Although, as missionary Bill Nyman says, the "Linguistas" major goal is to spread the message of the Bible to the millions of primitive Indians throughout Peru, the side benefits may be of even greater importance.

The Indian, as they receive the Bible, also receive a written language and an intensive, if rudimentary, education.

The project, which is expected to last at least another generation, has the warm endorsement of the Peruvian government. When the Institute celebrates its 20th year in the jungle in June, President Fernando Belaunde Terry will be on hand to praise.

The Institute is one of about 17 similar missions around the world sponsored by the Wycliffe Bible Translators, headquartered in Santa Ana, Calif. Nyman says about 1,400 translators and back-up staffs are at work.

The spacious Peruvian base on the banks of Lake Yarinacocha, a cutoff bend of the Ucayali River some 300 air miles northeast of Lima, is the jumping-off point for missionary operations in this country.

As Nyman explains, "Translators are permanent residents of the base but are airlifted by our own airline deep into the bush where they work in primitive Indian villages for as long as six months at a stretch.

"The full cycle of work is to send linguists to the tribes to 'break' the language, create a written alphabet, then help establish schools to teach the Indians to read and write their own language, using primers and textbooks printed by the Institute at the base.

"The most promising pupils are sent to Yarinacocha to learn Spanish and become government-accredited teachers and then return to their tribes to begin new schools.

"The tribes are thus given a link with the rest of Peru. Without this breakthrough, they would not be able to cope with encroaching civilization, would become demoralized, detribalized, and be forced to retreat from civilization into ultimate degeneration."

That's what the linguists say, anyway. But some observers of their work do not exactly agree. A Peruvian physician from Lima maintains that while the translators are

"certainly noble and sincere in their efforts, they may be doing more harm than good."

What Peru needs now, he points out, is unity. Nearly half of its people do not speak Spanish, the state language. Instead of bringing the Indians together by giving them a common tongue, the linguists are, in effect, splintering them even more by offering them a grammar in their own language.

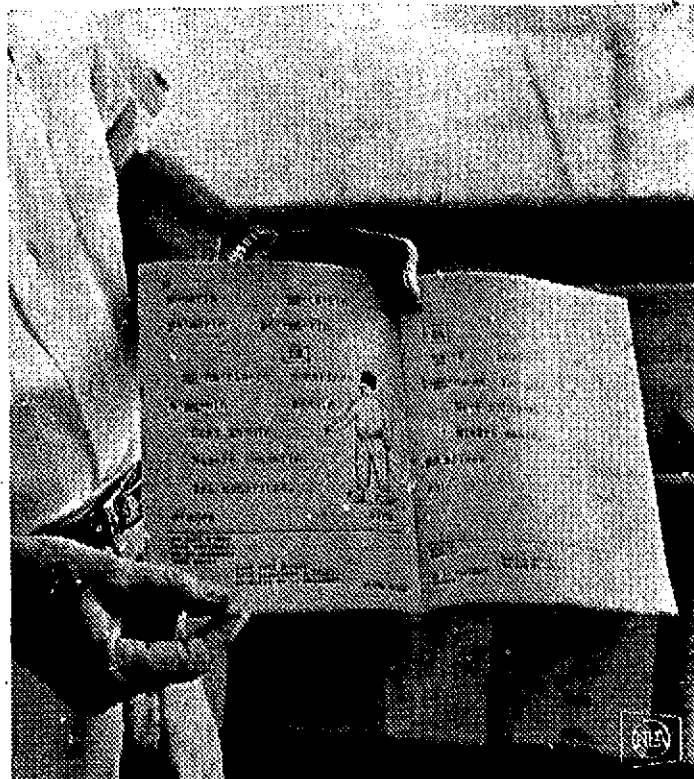

Though the missionaries claim to be non-sectarian, another critic points out, they are, in fact, fundamentalists "who feel the Bible alone can help these poor Indians who are without decent food, health, housing, education and just about everything else."

What particularly rankles the Linguistas' neighbors is the relative luxury in which the translators live.

"Can you imagine the negative effect their estate has on the Indians and Mestizos who live in wretched poverty on its fringes?" a competing missionary asked.

Such comments do not bother the Linguistas. They are dedicated, single-minded people who apparently believe in what they are doing.

"Eventually," Bill Nyman says, "we will evangelize the world."

INDIAN PRIMER—This basic primer in an Indian tongue is one of the projects of the Summer Institute of Linguistics in Peru.

CYCLE WITH FRINGE ON TOP—He might have to go out in the midday sun, but Arthur Godfrey wasn't about to be bothered by it as he made the rounds of the Hollywood set during filming of "The Glass Bottom Boat." He simply attached a fringe-fancy umbrella to his tricycle and off he pedaled.

Southwest 'Water War'

By TOM NOLAN
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

WASHINGTON—(NEA)—Under the guise of protecting one of the country's best known scenic attractions, a group of "conservationists" may be on the verge of disrupting an ambitious water development plan for the Southwest.

Though this campaign would immediately affect only the Pacific Southwest Water Plan, the stakes are much higher. For should the campaign succeed, water plans in all parts of the country might have to be altered.

The center of this controversy is a proposed power dam at Marble Gorge on the Colorado River, some 12.5 miles above the boundary of Grand Canyon National Park.

The dam is a key part of the $1.2 billion Central Arizona Project, which in turn is a key part of the multibillion-dollar Pacific Southwest Water Plan, devised in 1964 by Interior Secretary Stewart Udall to meet future water needs in the driest, yet fastest-growing part of the United States.

Of the seven states included in the plan (California, Arizona, New Mexico, Nevada, Utah, Colorado and Wyoming), Arizona has most pressing water needs.

The Grand Canyon State literally has been living on borrowed time—and water—for several years. From its underground reservoirs, the state is mining some 2.5 million acre-feet more than is considered a safe annual withdrawal.

Soon southern California water needs will be nearly as desperate. Within five to 15 years, estimated water needs in the other states will outstrip available supply.

Located in this area are Los Angeles, San Diego, Phoenix, Tucson, Denver and Las Vegas—six of the fastest-growing cities in the United States.

That the water situation in the Southwest would someday become critical has been a recognized fact for more than 50 years. Yet long-range solutions have not been possible, simply because nobody could agree on a fair plan for dividing the water.

The past half century in the Southwest seemingly has been one constant water war—city against city, state against state and Lower Colorado Basin against Upper Colorado Basin.

Udall's plan apparently ended this stalemate, since it was acceptable to virtually all concerned. But now the determined group of conservationists —scholars prefer the term "preservationists"—threatens to delay the Central Arizona Project for perhaps as long as three years.

Leaders of this group are The Wilderness Society, the Sierra Club and the Izaak Walton League of America. Their basic arguments against Marble Gorge dam are:

- It would flood a beautiful stretch of Colorado River gorges which actually should be considered part of Grand Canyon National Park.

- It won't help the water shortage, since it is a power dam.

Although Rep. John Saylor, R-Pa., has introduced a bill in the House of Representatives which would extend Grand Canyon's boundaries to include the proposed Marble Gorge axis, the dam site currently is outside park limits.

Should the dam become a reality, it would flood a gorge which—according to the Interior Department—has been visited by a total of 900 people in the last 90 years. The area is inaccessible except by boat.

The lake made by the dam would provide recreational benefits for an estimated 350,000 persons a year.

Though Marble Gorge is only a power dam, it's nevertheless a very necessary part of future water development in the area, says the Interior Department's Bureau of Reclamation.

The sale of hydroelectric power constitutes the principal source of revenue to finance the entire project. Should the dam proposal be killed, it would probably take at least two years to come up with a

A ROYAL HONOR—Yehudi Menuhin, flanked by his family, holds recently received Honorary Order of the Knight Commander of the British Empire. From left, son Gerard, wife Diana, Menuhin and son Jeremy.

LONDON—(NEA)—Yehudi Menuhin is Britain's favorite American not only because he is a superb violinist, but because he is an eccentric in the best British tradition.

Menuhin does start the day by standing on his head Yoga fashion. As a vegetarian, he does prefer yogurt and a handful of nuts to the most sumptuous banquet that could be set before him.

He does change his shirt three times during a performance, and he does have a phobia about airplanes, doing everything possible to avoid flying from one concert engagement to another.

Here in Britain he is sometimes known as the "silent knight," due to the fact that the violinist can never use the title "Sir Yehudi," although he was knighted by the Queen in December. (His American citizenship prevents him from using the "Sir.")

Yet, despite the fact that he has been lionized by the British, and that he makes his home here in London most of the year, Menuhin remains essentially American. "As American as a second-hand Cadillac," he suggests smilingly.

"That second-hand Cadillac is the fondest memory of my youth," the violinist pursues. We were backstage at Steinway Hall, where Menuhin had been rehearsing his first opera, Mozart's "Così fan tutte," which he will conduct at the Bath festival in June.

"I bought the Cadillac in 1936, after my parents had decided that I should retire from the concert stage for a couple of years and try to live like a normal boy. I remember that it was a big, 12-cylinder, open job, and I toured all over California in it, meandering down narrow lanes that were just big enough for the Cadillac to squeeze through."

"Those were the happiest days in my life," Menuhin adds, his eyes still shining with the recollection. The violinist is small, with sandy hair and large expressive, almost Oriental eyes. His manner is gentle and humorous, and he has not lost his American accent.

Now, at 50, Menuhin is planning to meander down narrow lanes again, but this time with his family. His London-born wife, Diana, is a former ballet dancer, and they have two sons, Gerard, 17, and Jeremy, 14.

"I am taking next year off," Menuhin explains during a break in the opera rehearsal. "I have accepted no concert engagements for 1967, aside from a brief American tour, and I intend to do a thousand things I've always wanted to do."

Not all of his year off will be spent loafing. "I intend to do a lot of teaching," he continues, "There is my school for young musicians in Stoke d'Abernon, Surrey, and I am planning to start another school for talented children at Los Gatos, Calif., where my parents are still living."

The thing about Yehudi Menuhin, his friends point out, is that he is not content to take from the pot without putting something back. At 50, this former child prodigy is now busy training the child prodigies of tomorrow, and trying to spare them some of the growing pains which he experienced.

Yehudi's earliest musical memory dates from the age of two, when his parents smuggled him into the hall where the San Francisco Symphony Orchestra performed.

At seven, Yehudi made his public debut playing Mendelssohn's concerto with the San Francisco Symphony Orchestra. By the time he was 10, he was playing at Carnegie Hall.

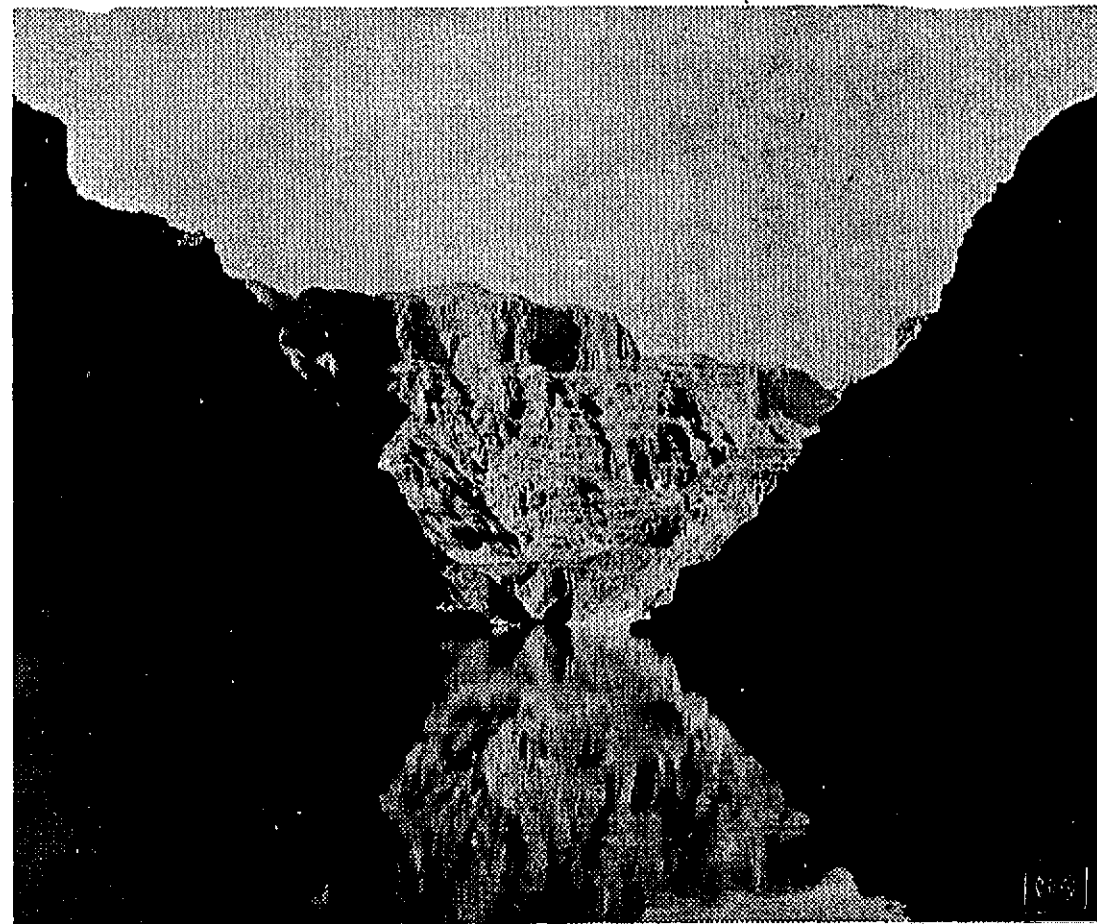

The music critics came prepared to scoff at this juvenile freak in his velvet breeches and white satin blouse, (obligatory clothing for prodigies in the 1920s), but they stayed to applaud. Some could scarcely believe that the mellow tone issued from a child and not a mature man.

"It was creepy, like monkeys typing Hamlet," one critic who heard the youthful Menuhin has since recalled.

At 13, he was earning an estimated $150,000 a year from his concerts and recitals.

His pupils at the Stoke d'Abernon school in Surrey, which he founded in 1963, are all aged between 9 and 16. They are housed in a converted Victorian mansion in the midst of some of Britain's finest scenery.

Menuhin is utterly devoted to the school, to which he gave the proceeds of his recent 50th birthday concert, which he conducted with his two sisters, Hepzibah and Yalta, and his son Jeremy as soloists in a Mozart triple piano concerto.

SITE OF DAM—Opponents of the proposed Marble Canyon dam say it will destroy the natural beauty of the spot on the Colorado River. Proponents answer that only 900 people have visited Marble Canyon (accessible by boat only) in the past 90 years.

feasible alternative.

But, opponents of the dam ask, why not steam, thermal or atomic power?

Generators run by water power, answers the Bureau of Reclamation, can be readily regulated to meet fluctuation in demand—a million homeowners, for example, simultaneously turning on their lights at sunset. Steam plants are best suited for constant, "baseload" operations.

Though thermal and atomic power plants will certainly improve in efficiency in the years ahead, they cannot approach the flexibility—and price—of hydro power.

Time and water are commodities the Southwest can least afford to waste.

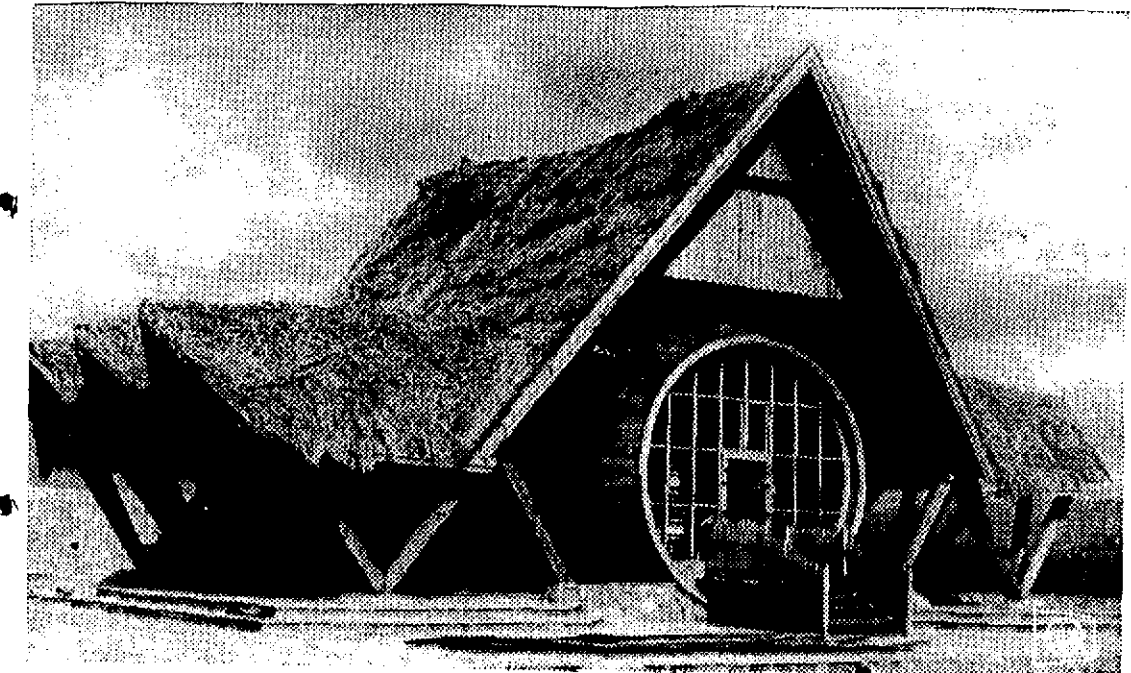

"But if they do pull out of Viet Nam, what do we do with our spare time?"

AN AMERICAN SUBURB—The Linguistas' base on Lake Yarinacocha is well-kept, even luxurious. The base boasts the only full automated dial telephone system in Peru.

BARREL INN—A cross between a barrel and a Polynesian grass house, this seaside restaurant might fit in well in many American resort areas where oddball architecture prevails. It's far away, however, at Bourgas on Bulgaria's Black Sea coast.

PORTABLE TUNNEL—Work on massive concrete sections of an auto tunnel to go beneath the Scheldt River is proceeding on dry land in the Netherlands. Once completed, the units will be towed to the tunnel site on the river and sunk. When all sections have been linked, the river water will be pumped out. The Scheldt tunnel will be a key link in a superhighway from Rotterdam to Lille, France.

Line firebox with foil, let coals burn down until covered with gray ashes. Remove steaks from marinade; place on a sheet of foil and sprinkle generously with cracked peppercorns. Grill steaks 2 inches above coals. Create a flame-up by sprinkling oil on the coals a few times to give the steaks a smoky flavor. Grill steaks 6 minutes on each side for medium rare. Steaks should be well-charred on the outside and pink and juicy on the inside. Place steaks on carving board and slice diagonally into thin slices; arrange on warm serving platter, garnished with parsley and spiced apple rings.

Our Daily Bread

Sliced Thin by The Editor
Alex. H. Washburn

We Apologize for Error But Chew Out Proofreaders

ROY Anderson read yesterday's piece about our project to pave The Star's parking lot and cautioned us this morning against doing any unwarranted work on "Shover Street."

Recognizing the well-known Anderson "needle" I rechecked yesterday's edition and found that I had written — and the proof-readers let it go by — that our parking lot is situated at Division and Shover Streets, when everyone on the newspaper knows it's at Division and Hazel.

Technically I am guilty — but no more so than the proof-readers, who are held responsible on every publication for catching known errors of fact as well as mere typographicals. This is the first law of the world of graphic arts. It has to be, for practically all newspaper and magazine material is written fast against a publishing deadline.

The man doesn't live who hasn't occasionally fouled up the facts. Sports announcers do a marvelous job broadcasting football on television and radio, but countless times they have given the ball to the wrong team, or miscalled the number of downs, or even the score. You think nothing of it, because an error in the spoken word is gone beyond recall. And conditions aren't much better on a daily paper, with only a few hours to assemble perhaps 30,000 words, edit it, headline it, arrange it, and get it to press.

Proof-reading is a deceptive job — appearing to be simple, but actually one of the most exacting tasks in a publishing house. Correcting misspelled words might be the public's notion of what a proof-reader is supposed to do — but it is the least important. No. 1 is to make the item read for good sense, regardless what either proof or copy says. No. 2 is to catch known errors of fact regardless of copy. No. 3 is to check critically on arrangement — seeing that the right headline is over the right story. No. 4 is to correct punctuation and make sure that paragraph indentation and item separators — dashes or blank slugs — are in place as indicated by copy. These are the corrections that make for good printing — and reading.

At the very end of the list is the correction of misspelled words. Bad spelling is unsightly, of course, but not nearly so important as the others — for if an article makes sensible reading and is factually correct the subscriber won't have much trouble deciphering an occasional butchered word. Besides, your newspaper is the product of a machine shop — and three-fourths of mistakes in spelling are errors of the machine, not of writing.

A prime example is where a letter is cut off from the end of one word and added to the beginning of another... like this: "Th eman." This is the commonest typographical error, and is entirely machine-made. Linotypes separate words with what are known as space-bands. If a space-band drops too soon it chops the "e" off of "the" and adds it to the beginning of the next word.

We are in process of selling off all our Linotypes and other hot-metal machines and replacing them with "cold type" units — which should eliminate machine "typos" and pin errors entirely on writers. It will be an improvement — but nothing in our man-made world is perfect.

I realize, at the end of this lecture, that I am guilty of doing the very thing the late Neill C. Marsh, El Dorado attorney and one-time candidate for congress, once charged to George Washington Mason, publisher of the old weekly El Dorado Times (now the name-plate of El Dorado's evening daily). Marsh said Mason made so many mistakes in each issue of the Times that he had to keep publishing in order to catch up with the corrections. But one day a tramp printer came through and asked for a job, and as Mason wanted to go to a Baptist convention he let the printer get out the paper in his absence. The printer, said Attorney Marsh, didn't make a single mistake. "And so when Mason came home he found no corrections to make — and suspended publication!"

Gov. Rescinds Auto Insurance Rate Increase

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — Gov. Orval Faubus said today that he will demand that the 21.2 per cent automobile liability insurance rates put into effect Wednesday be rescinded.

Faubus issued a formal statement at his office saying that he would move that no rate increases be approved until certain faults and defects in the insurance companies be approved.

He also will ask for a complete public hearing on the increase, which followed a 17.5 per cent increase made 13 months ago.

Low Bidder Won't Sign Contract

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — The second lowest bidder will be offered the contract on the Oil Belt Vocational - Technical School at El Dorado, the state Board of Education said Wednesday.

The board reached the decision after the low bidder, Matthews Construction Co. of El Dorado, refused last month to sign the contract.

Atty. Gen. Bruce Bennett said the board had the choice of either collecting Matthews' bid bond and re-advertising for bids or waiving the bid bond and awarding the contract to the next lowest bidder.

Matthews said it discovered after submitting its bid of $229,950 that it stood to lose several thousand dollars on the job.

The contract was offered to Hargett Construction Co. of El Dorado, which bid $241,760.

Johnson Is Hopeful for V. Nam Vote

By JACK BELL

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Johnson's optimistic report that preparations for elections in South Viet Nam are moving in a sound direction aroused both hope and skepticism in Congress Thursday.

Johnson told a news conference Wednesday that "while there will be missteps, the direction is sound" toward voting aimed at installing a civilian regime to replace the military government in Saigon.

Senatorial critics and supporters of the President's Viet Nam policies joined in expressing hope that Johnson was saying that with "reasonable unity and proper diligence and constant regard for our national interest, we will achieve our objectives here — at home — and there in Viet Nam."

Among those willing to speak out, however, none found quite as much encouragement as Johnson said he did by the progress of a special Vietnamese committee preparing for the election of a constitutional assembly.

U.S., Soviet Fish Fleets Play Game

By ROBERT TUCKMAN

ABOARD CARRIER ENOIR-PRISE, Off North Viet Nam (AP) — The Russians and the U. S. 7th Fleet are following each other around in the seas off Viet Nam.

The game is called "Comrade" by the Americans. It's played this way:

A Soviet fishing trawler, equipped with an unusual amount of radar, shows up a few miles from the 90,000-ton, nuclear-powered Enterprise.

Its mission, apart from fishing, is snooping.

It wants to find out how many planes are aboard the carrier, how many are launched each day for attacks against North Viet Nam and any other information.

When the trawler shows up, the word goes round the Enterprise: "Comrade is shadowing us again."

Says Negro Should Be on Board

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
LITTLE ROCK (AP) — Gov. P. Orval Faubus said Wednesday that Negroes deserve representation on the 10-member state Board of Education and that he would not be adverse to appointing one to it if "all things were equal."

Faubus did not say that he would name a Negro to an existing or pending vacancy, but Negro leaders are reportedly ready to ask him to do this.

Quit Viet Nam, Concentrate on Rights - CORE

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Congress of Racial Equality (CORE) advocated today that the United States put first priority on the civil rights program and get out of Viet Nam.

Floyd McKissick, national director of the civil rights group, said the White House Conference on Civil Rights would be asked to back its stand, and he felt there was a very good chance it would do so.

The two-day conference ends today after adoption of resolutions in each of the 12 committee groups in which the 2,400 delegates had been meeting.

President Johnson in an announced appearance at a dinner meeting Wednesday night, cautioned the conference not to expect any presidential miracle.

"But I do pledge this," Johnson said, "to give my days and such talents as I have been given to the pursuit of justice and opportunity, for those so long denied them."

Gemini Still Going Up on Friday

CAPE KENNEDY, Fla. (AP) — Dramatically successful with the unmanned Surveyor moonship, but seemingly jinxed in getting men off the ground, space officials felt confident today that Gemini 9's two dismayed astronauts finally will rocket skyward Friday.

Twice, Air Force Lt. Col. Thomas P. Stafford and Navy Lt. Cmdr. Eugene A. Cernan have donned their flashy space suits and climbed aboard their waiting spacechips; but, twice, they've gloomily taken the slow elevator ride back to the ground.

They get another chance Friday at 9:39 a.m. (EDT) to set out on their 70-hour flight, including satellite rendezvous and 2 1/2-hour space walk after a frustrating two-day delay.

Engineers pinned the blame for the scrubbed Gemini 9 flight Wednesday on a faulty signal relay system. It kept a guidance command from reaching a black box for electronic translation to the spacecraft.

Faulty parts were replaced and preliminary tests indicated the problem had been solved.

However, flight officials still aren't certain a protective shroud around the docking apparatus on one end of the stubby, bottle-shaped line-up target separated as planned once in orbit.

Driving Class Starts Here on June 7

Driving a car can be a great deal of fun. But driving is a privilege that carries with it many responsibilities said Calvin Caldwell, county agent. The Youth Automotive Program is designed to acquaint boys and girls 14-17 with some of these responsibilities.

The program will begin Tuesday night, June 7, at 7:30 o'clock in the Courtroom of the Hempstead County Courthouse in Hope. Captain Milton Mosler, of the Arkansas State Police, has charge of the first meeting.

He has arranged for Sergeant Jim Rowell, of the State Police Safety Department, to be guest speaker. Sergeant Rowell will present a film on highway safety and discuss traffic laws.

There will be a door prize of ten gallons of gasoline to the lucky winner.

Bosch Beaten in Upset in Dominican Vote

By WILLIAM L. RYAN
AP Special Correspondent

SANTO DOMINGO, Dominican Republic (AP) — Amid scenes of wild jubilation, headquarters of conservative Joaquin Balaguer claimed today a smashing victory over former President Juan Bosch in Dominican elections which are likely to open a new page in this island nation's history.

Dr. Jose A. Quesada, private secretary to the Reform party candidate, predicted that Bosch, standard bearer of the Dominican Revolutionary party, would be beaten by a 2-1 margin when all returns are in.

A heavy vote piled up in the conservative-minded rural areas for Balaguer, who served as vice president under dictator Rafael Trujillo and as president after Trujillo's assassination.

$2 Million in SS Paid in Hempstead

Otis A. Blackwood, District Manager of the Texarkana Social Security Office, states that he wishes to correct an article printed by this newspaper a few days ago regarding the amount of social security benefits being paid into Hempstead county. Mr. Blackwood emphasizes that the error was made in his office and not by this newspaper.

3,186 people in Hempstead county received a total of $2,073,456 in social security benefits in 1965. This is an increase of $237,220.00 and 146 people over the year before.

A large part of the increase in payments resulted from changes made by the social security amendments of 1965. Mr. Blackwood said. Those changes which were in addition to the new program of health insurance cent increase in monthly benefits retroactive to January 1965; for the edge, included a 7 per cent increase for divorced women; benefits between 18 and 22; benefits for 60; benefits for full-time students for some people over 72 who hadn't worked long enough to get social security before; and the payment of disability insurance benefits to workers who are unable to work because of a disability that lasts 12 months or more.

"In addition to the people who began getting benefits in 1965 because of these changes a good many older people who, upon applying for medicare, found they were eligible for regular social security benefits, too. All in all, the 1965 figures for Hempstead county include 1,537 retired workers and 149 disabled workers."

Faubus met briefly with the employee, J. G. Meredith, Wednesday and later told news men that he did not feel Meredith should have been fired.

Meredith was fired by the state Highway Commission for failure to co-operate in an investigation of illegal pay raises in the department.

Brine Dams Sought on Red River

WASHINGTON (AP) — Army Engineers at Dallas have released a report asking for Congressional appropriations to remove salt water from the Arkansas and Red rivers.

The engineers are asking $173 million for the Arkansas basin and $55.8 million for the Red basin.

The report calls for a system of brine-controlling dams in west Texas and west Oklahoma which engineers said would reduce the salt concentrations on the rivers all the way to their confluence with the Mississippi River.

The report said desalinization would make the river water suitable for human consumption and for industrial and agricultural use.

TEXARKANA, Ark. (AP) — Two youths from Madeville drowned in a pond Wednesday, said Sheriff Richard Birchler. The victims were identified as Gary Lee Hill, 14, son of Mr. and Mrs. Lee Hill, and James Solomon, 15, son of Mr. and Mrs. Roosevelt Solomon. Birchler said he recovered the bodies from about 15 feet of water.

Thinks Fired Rd. Workers Are Innocent

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — Gov. Orval Faubus says the thinks an ousted state Highway Department employee did nothing wrong and that he would be glad to recommend him for employment in private business.

Faubus met briefly with the employee, J. G. Meredith, Wednesday and later told news men that he did not feel Meredith should have been fired.

Meredith was fired by the state Highway Commission for failure to co-operate in an investigation of illegal pay raises in the department.

Brine Dams Sought on Red River

WASHINGTON (AP) — Army Engineers at Dallas have released a report asking for Congressional appropriations to remove salt water from the Arkansas and Red rivers.

The engineers are asking $173 million for the Arkansas basin and $55.8 million for the Red basin.

The report calls for a system of brine-controlling dams in west Texas and west Oklahoma which engineers said would reduce the salt concentrations on the rivers all the way to their confluence with the Mississippi River.

The report said desalinization would make the river water suitable for human consumption and for industrial and agricultural use.

Surveyor 1 Brakes to Soft Moon Landing, Sends Back Pictures

U.S. Elated by Success on the Very First Try

PASADENA, Calif. (AP) — Surveyor 1 braked to a landing on the moon early Thursday end, 35 minutes later, televised a picture showing one of the spidery craft's three legs with the lunar surface dimly in the background.

Touchdown on the prestigious success-on-first-try feat was at 217:37 a.m. EDT, exactly on schedule.

The first picture flashed on a screen at the Jet Propulsion Laboratory, which guided the flight, was not perfectly clear on the television screen. It was not possible immediately to tell if the leg photographed suffered damage.

Other pictures are scheduled to be sent, showing lunar terrain where astronauts some day may walk.

The pictures were flashed across the nation and abroad by Early Bird satellite by three television networks.

The initial shot had 200 television scan lines and showed little detail. It appeared streaked, in grays and blacks, with little white.

The cushioned foot pad was visible at the extreme left of the frame.

The picture was obtained when the camera pointed downward for the purpose of determining the condition of the legs and, hopefully, the nature of the terrain on the dry Sea of Storms.

A few seconds after the first picture flashed on the screen, drawing cheers of elation from a crowd of laboratory officials and newsmen, the second appeared.

It was much clearer and showed one of the craft's low-power antennas stark white against a background of gray rubble. For this shot the camera was swiveled slightly to the right and tilted upward.

The shots were the first of perhaps hundreds hoped for over the next 12 days before the lunar night sets in and its chill silences Surveyor's equipment.

The successful pictures wrote Ya happy ending to a seemingly textbook perfect flight — 63 hours and a quarter-million miles.

In the final crucial maneuver its powerful braking rocket slowed it in three minutes from 6,000 miles an hour to a touchdown at perhaps the programmed 3 1/3 m.p.h.

Scientist Albert Hibbs, commenting to newsmen at the Jet Propulsion Laboratory which guided the flight, said strain gauges on the three legs "indicated a soft landing."

He added that sun sensors indicated the 620-pound craft was stable throughout the tricky descent. An antenna which failed to extend after launch Monday from Cape Kennedy, causing concern for success, apparently snapped into position at landing, Hibbs added.

The Soviet Union soft-landed a camera capsule on the moon last Feb. 3 and it returned nine pictures. Experts here say Surveyor could return hundreds of shots over the next 12 days, and they should be better than those of Luna 9, the Russian craft.

The Sea of Storms landing area is near the western edge of the side of the moon facing earth, just south of the lunar equator near the Flamsteed crater.

An enlarged photo of the area, taken earlier by a telescope on nearby Mt. Wilson, shows an outline surprisingly like a man's face.

A hundred-mile-diameter ring of ridges, possibly the eroded rim of a crater, outlines the face. In the southern portion, about where a mouth would be, are two smaller craters, Flamsteed D and Flamsteed E.

Surveyor's touchdown spot is right between the eyes.

LANDS ON MOON — The Surveyor spacecraft makes a successful soft landing on the moon early Thursday and shortly thereafter started transmitting pictures back to Earth. Arrow at right shows route Surveyor took to make a landing in the Ocean of Storms area of the lunar surface.

Telegraph Walkout Is Delayed

WASHINGTON (AP) — Negotiators reported today that Western Union Telegraph Co. and the AFL-CIO Commercial Telegraphers Union have agreed to extend to midnight, June 7 the contract whose expiration led to a four-hour nationwide walkout Wednesday.

Under the extension agreement any wage increases and other benefits finally negotiated will be retroactive to midnight, May 31 when the old pact ran out.

All offices of the company were reported back in operation today, including Albany, N.Y., where the workers had threatened Wednesday to stay out until a new contract was arranged.

James Stewart Is Doing Fine

SANTA MONICA, Calif. (AP) — Actor James Stewart, 53, was in St. John's Hospital, and said to be "doing fine" today, following knee surgery. A hospital spokesman said Stewart, who was admitted May 23, should be released in about a week.

Farmer's Daughter Likes Chicken

by Gaynor Maddox
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

The Island of Hawaii, the Big Island, is where orchids and macadamia nuts and kona coffee grow. It is also the site of the new Mauna Kea Beach Hotel, a combination of Asian splendor and Caucasian restraint, with horizons of blue sea and volcanic mountains. There, in the softly lit pavilionlike restaurant we dined with youthful Inger Stevens, Swedish-born television movie star. She had come to the gentle islands to present awards and congratulatory kisses to winners in the Kaiser Foil Cookout Championship.

Asked how she stayed so attractively slender, she explained, "I keep active. Play tennis, walk a lot, swim regularly in my pool. I like to eat freely. No fat diets for me. Chicken is my favorite food, especially my own version of chicken paprikash."

INGER STEVENS likes chicken paprikash.

Panbroiling Makes Use of Dry Heat

When you use a frying-pan or griddle without fat, that's one of the dry heat methods employed for cooking meat.

Dry heat cooking methods are used for tender cuts of meat. They mean simply that heat is used for cooking the meat, but moisture in the form of liquid is not added.

Meats which are suitable for broiling may also be panbroiled. Panbroiling is usually preferred for meats which are cut thin, since this method makes it possible to serve the steaks browned on the outside yet rare or medium on the inside, says Reba Staggs, meat authority.

Panbroiling is also preferred for steaks and chops when you have a small quantity for cooking such as one, two or three.

Pans or griddles used for panbroiling need not be sizzling hot. If heated, the meat will, however, start cooking sooner than if you use a cold pan.

It's important to pour off fat as it accumulates or you will have a panfried product rather than a panbroiled one.

Turning more than once is often recommended for even cooking and attractive browning.

Should you cover or add water? The answer's an emphatic "no" for this would no longer be a dry heat method under these circumstances.

Clambake Fun

by Gaynor Maddox
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

How about a clambake in your own back yard over the Memorial Day long weekend. No sand needed for this version—just a charcoal grill.

The ingredients, besides congenial guests, are cherrystone or little neck clams which you serve raw on the half shell with a zesty sauce. This will keep the guests busy while the chicken pieces are cooking. Then grilled chicken basted with tangy butter sauce. Also foil-wrapped ears of corn which follow the chicken on the grill. Then thawed lobster tails, which require about 10 minutes on the grill. Watermelon is the most popular clambake dessert. Don't forget unlimited supplies of good coffee.

GRILLED CHICKEN

Place broiler-fryer chicken halves, quarters or pieces, skin side up, on grate set 3 to 6 inches from heat. Brush chicken with tangy butter sauce. Cook until tender, turning and brushing occasionally. Allow 45 minutes to 1 1/4 hours total cooking time, depending on weight of chicken and distance from heat. To test for doneness, leg should twist easily out of thigh joint and pieces should be fork tender. Five minutes before end of cooking time, sprinkle chicken with salt and desired seasonings (paprika, poultry seasoning, dried leaf tarragon, etc.).

CLAM COCKTAIL SAUCE

(3/4-cup sauce)
1/2 cup catsup or chili sauce
3 tablespoons lemon juice
2 teaspoons Worcestershire sauce
1/2 teaspoon Tabasco
1 tablespoon horseradish
1/4 teaspoon minced garlic, optional

Mix all ingredients together. Chill. Serve with raw clams on the half shell.

TANGY BUTTER SAUCE

(1 cup sauce)
1/2 pound butter
1/2 teaspoon Tabasco
2 tablespoons lemon or lime juice
Melt butter in a saucepan; stir in lemon juice and Tabasco.

Rhubarb Pie Deserves Flaky, Tender Crust

Strawberry pink rhubarb peeking from the cut-outs of flaky pastry is a certain sign of spring to many. If the distinctive flavor of this fruit is a favorite, then this is the dessert above all others to have.

It's easy to work the lard into the flour mixture, says Reba Staggs, home economist. The lard can even be used directly from the refrigerator for this recipe.

Rhubarb Pie Pastry

2 cups sifted enriched flour
1 teaspoon salt
1/2 cup lard
4 to 6 tablespoons ice water
Mix flour and salt. Cut lard into flour until crumbs are about the size of small peas. Add ice water, a little at a time, mixing quickly and evenly through flour with a fork until dough just holds in a ball. Use as little water as possible. Divide pastry in half. Roll half of pastry to about 1/8-inch thickness and line a 9-inch pie pan, allowing 1/2-inch of pastry to extend over edge. Prepare Rhubarb Filling.

Rhubarb Filling

1 1/2 cups sugar
1/2 cup flour
1/4 teaspoon salt
1 pound rhubarb, cut in 1/2-inch pieces (about 3 cups)
1 tablespoon butter or margarine
Mix sugar, flour, and salt. Combine rhubarb with one-half the sugar-flour mixture. Pour filling into unbaked pastry shell. Sprinkle remaining sugar-flour mixture over filling. Dot with butter or margarine. Roll out remaining half of pastry and cut into 6 equal triangular shaped pieces. Place over filling with points toward center. Bake in a hot oven (400° F.) for 30 minutes. Yield: one 9-inch pie.

Iron Skillet Needs Cleaning

By Polly Cramer, Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

Polly's Problem

DEAR POLLY—I would like to know how to get the hard crust off the OUTSIDE of my iron skillet. The inside is all right but I have tried all sorts of things on the outside. I would appreciate any help.—MRS. J. C. K.

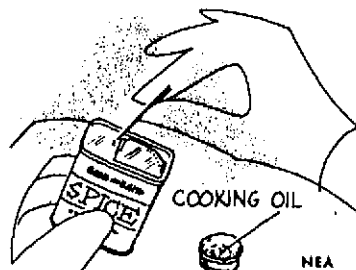

DEAR MRS. J. C. K.—Quite a long time ago a reader answered this and her suggestion appears in our Polly's Pointers Booklet as follows: "Use regular commercial oven cleaner to clean the outside of a cast iron skillet or pan. Follow directions on the package." Hope this will help you.—POLLY

DEAR POLLY—My Pointer is in answer to Mrs. O. O. W.'s request for the way to make bedroom slippers out of washcloths. One washcloth makes one slipper. Fold washcloth in half and sew a narrow hem up the back leaving about 1 1/2 to 2 inches to fold down. This makes a casing in which 1/4-inch elastic is inserted when the slipper is finished. Trim the first stitching and turn up the point at one end to make the heel. Sew in place. Sew seam up the front. The pointed end is the toe. Run the elastic, with a safety pin fastened to one end, through the casing and sew the ends together.

A nice after-bath robe is easy to make with two bath towels. Lay two matching towels, one on top of the other, then measure and mark the long side 9 inches from one end (for armhole) and 12 inches from the other end (for slit) and stitch between these markings. Repeat this on the other long side. Gather ends of towels into about 14 inches to make the neck. Sew trimming on neck edges leaving enough at each end to tie on the shoulders. A set of washcloth slippers and matching towel robe make a nice gift.—CHARLENE

GIRLS—Mrs. J. E. H. makes her slippers the same way but gives them a nice finish by sewing the heels and toes together with the zigzag stitch on her sewing machine. Mrs. G. W. A. uses a piece of out- ing flannel to make inner- soles which are stitched from side to side and end to end to stay in place. This gives longer wear to the slippers.—POLLY

DEAR POLLY—Are your little tin spice cans hard to open? If so, try my husband's suggestion. Pour cooking oil into a bottle cap and with a toothpick put a drop or two of the oil on each slide.

Slide the opening tab back and forth several times and from then on the spice can will glide open quickly and easily.—ELSIE

DEAR POLLY—My Pointer is for Mrs. C. E., who wanted a use for outdated bridge or reading lamps. Remove all electric attachments and paint the lamp. At the next rummage sale look for a small bird cage and attach it to the arm. Fill the cage with foliage or artificial flowers and be sure the flowers are not too heavy for the stand.—MRS. L. V. F.

Many families planning camping vacations this summer will hitch modern tent trailers to family cars and add sight- seeing, city visiting and restaurant dining to the usual camp fare of fishing and hiking. They will need a wardrobe of carefree sportswear in packable, washable fibers for everyone on the trip such as is worn by the family shown (left). For city visits (center) mom chooses a roseberry three-piece, washable linen-look suit in Dacron polyester and Avril rayon. Dad's Hammonton Park sports jacket in dark green is a blend of Dacron, wool and mohair. Knee- topping suspender skirt (right) worn with a multicolored striped pullover is a great look for the campsite. Skirt and top are easy to wash, quick to dry and need no ironing. All women's fashions are by Century Sportswear. (DuPont; Nimrod)

Serkin Celebrates 30 Years

NEW YORK—(NEA)—Rudolf Serkin fans have every reason to smile as broadly as a Beatle-maniac stuck in an elevator with Paul McCartney.

Thanks to Columbia Records, marking the 30th anniversary of Serkin's American debut, an even dozen Serkin records, comprising seven albums, with 20 selections (if you count Beethoven's 11 Bagatelles as one selection), have been released.

The highlights are two multiple sets. In one, Serkin plays the five Beethoven Piano Concertos and the Choral Fantasy, with Leonard Bernstein conducting the New York Philharmonic for Concertos No. 3 and 5 and the Fantasy, and Eugene Ormandy conducting the Philadelphia Orchestra for the others. In the other album, all with Ormandy and the Philadelphia Orchestra, Serkin plays "Four Great Romantic Concertos: Brahms' First and Second, Mendelssohn's First and Schumann's

There is a fine album of Schubert's Sonata in A Major, and a "how-time-flies" one in which Serkin and his talented son, Peter, play Mozart's Concerto No. 10 in E-Flat Major for Two Pianos and, with Mieczyslaw Horszowski, Bach's Concerto No. 2 for Three Pianos. These are in an album called "Music from Marlboro." All in all, fine listening.

BEST BUYS—"George Maharis: A New Route" (Epic) has the Route 66 star doing a great job in a night club act. Andy Williams has one of his best albums in a long time (and that's a big compliment) in "The Shadow of Your Smile" (Columbia). Herb Alpert and the Tijuana Brass ask "What Now My Love" with their unique sound, now being imitated by everyone (A & M). If you haven't discovered Chucho Avellanet, a young Puerto Rican who is a film and TV star at home, listen to his nice sounds in "In a Little Spanish Town" (United Artists). "Once in a Lifetime" (MGM) introduces Marnie Lee, a metallic but stylish singer. "More Music From the Man From U.N.C.L.E." (RCA Victor) has some quality sounds in the modern pop. Shirley Verrett is superb singing Orfeo in Gluck's "Orfeo ed Eurydice" (RCA Victor) with Anna Moffo and Judith Raskin also doing first-rate singing.

FOR COLLECTORS: Epic has released "Great Moments in Show Business" which has Walter Houston talking "September Song," plus Burns and Allen in a very funny routine, Al Jolson being Al Jolson, and Dick Powell proving what a good tenor he had. Columbia has released two multiple-record albums: "The Ellington Era," and "Billie Holiday: The Golden Years."

ORIGINAL CASTS AND SOUND TRACKS—"It's a Bird It's a Plane It's a Super- man" (Columbia) has a couple of good songs, and Jack Casmod. Shirley Verrett is superb singing Orfeo in Gluck's "Orfeo ed Eurydice" (RCA Victor) with Anna Moffo and Judith Raskin also doing first-rate singing.

on either side of the Atlantic, for "Born Free" (MGM). With the reissue of "The Ten Commandments," Elmer Bernstein's score for the C. B. De- Mille epic has been given a new lease on the record machine (United Artists).

OTHER GOOD BUYS — "Drums for God" (Epic); "First International University Choral Festival" (RCA Victor); "Finding a New Friend—Oscar Brown Jr. and Luiz Henrique" (Fontana); "The Righteous Brothers—Soul and Inspiration" (Verve); "Johnny Mathis—The Shadow of Your Smile" (Mercury); "The Best of Sammy Davis Jr." (Decca); "Nancy Ames—As Time Goes By" (Epic); "Great Moments on Broadway — Jerry Vale" (Columbia); "Ferrante and Teicher—For Lovers of All Ages" (United Artists); "Pop- corn and Soul—Roy Meri- wether Trio" (Columbia).

Serve Fresh Hawaiian Pineapple

by Gaynor Maddox
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

Lanai, one of the Hawaiian Islands, is actually nothing more than a mammoth pine- apple plantation.

Perfectly ripe pineapples have their own unique sweet, slightly tart taste and wonderful fragrance. We recalled, as we waited for our plane back to Honolulu, that our soft-spoken friend, Brian Daly, the Dublin-born director of New York's beautiful sky-high Rainbow Room, once told us that fresh pineapple desserts go big with men. We tried one, sitting at a window table with a sweeping view over the lighted city out to the darkened sea.

FRESH PINEAPPLE
A LA RAINBOW ROOM
(Serves 4 to 6)
4 small ripe pineapples
2 envelopes unflavored gelatin

1/2 cup sugar
1/2 cup cold water
1 pint fresh strawberries
1 teaspoon pure vanilla extract
1 cup heavy cream, whipped

FRESH HAWAIIAN PINEAPPLE will please Dad.

Cut each pineapple in half. Shape top into "handle" leaving frond attached. Cut out fruit with grapefruit knife. Remove core and cut fruit in small dice. Reserve 3 cups. Extra may be used in fruit cups. Turn shells up- side down to drain. Drain ex- cess liquid from the 3 cups diced pineapple. In saucepan combine pineapple and sugar. Let stand 15 minutes. Mean- while soften gelatin in cold water. Bring pineapple mix- ture to a rapid boil. Cover and boil 5 minutes. Stir in softened gelatin. Chill until thickened. Hull strawberries; reserve a few for garnish. Put remaining berries in blender or mash and force through sieve. Fold straw- berry puree into pineapple mixture along with vanilla and whipped cream. Turn into pineapple baskets and top with "handle" or spoon into 1 1/2-quart souffle or serving dish. Refrigerate un- til set. Before serving garnish with strawberries.

U.S. Invests $20 Million in State Schools

By ALVIN SCHAY
Associated Press Writer
LITTLE ROCK (AP)—A state Education Department official says there are strong indications that a federal investment of more than $20 million in Arkansas is paying off by keeping more children in school.

W. M. Moore, director of the federal elementary and secondary education program in Arkansas, said Arkansas school administrators reported attendance increased three to five per cent during the 1965-66 school year.

Moore said he and other education officials feel that federal aid spent on such things as health services, free meals and personal services has made it possible for many parents to keep their children in school.

The money, $20.4 million, was allocated under Title I of the federal Elementary and Secondary Education Act. All but five school districts which didn't agree to comply with the 1964 Civil Rights Act received Title I funds.

The state's school administrators have "done wonderful jobs with the program," Moore said.

The Title I money has been spent on everything from an educational television system in Paragould public schools to buying eyeglasses for pupils whose families could not afford them.

Moore said the schools found in studies of economically deprived children that the greatest need was for improved reading.

Thus, 363 remedial reading teachers were added in Arkansas as of March 1, he said.

Other new employment as a result of the federal program included 161 teachers of remedial mathematics, 62 social workers, 128 librarians, 140 counselors (most of them at the elementary and junior high school levels) and 126 nurses.

In rounded figures, $4.3 million went for instructional salaries, $800,000 for teacher in-service training, $1.8 million for food services, $3.3 million for instructional supplies and equipment, $3.7 million for portable classrooms and mobile units, $1.4 million for health services (not including nurses' salaries), $2.5 million for construction of new permanent facilities and $2.6 million for personal services, Moore said.

The personal services section includes clothing, home-bound study programs for pupils unable to go to school and psychiatric aid, among others.

Among the districts which have excelled in the personal services area, Moore said, are Helena-West Helena, Little Rock and Pulaski County.

Paragould's closed circuit television system, soon to be fully operational, was the only Title I program of an unusual, or experimental, type in the state, Moore said.

"I think it has wonderful potential," Moore said of the district's project.

Title II of the program provides for planning and operational grants for experimental programs, and although several districts have applied for planning grants, none has applied for operational grants, Moore said. Paragould's $103,422 television project could have qualified under this section, also, he said.

Moore said the operation of Title I programs has been entirely local in nature.

The most successful programs have been in districts where a good advisory committee—local residents who make recommendations to school boards—was established, he said.

Hope and Dumas are examples of districts which did outstanding jobs in working with advisory committees, Moore said.

Hope, he said, has "a wonderful program for the educationally deprived." Moore said a scrapbook, or pictorial review, of the Hope program compiled by Superintendent James H. Jnes and his staff was used by the U.S. Office of Education when it was asking Congress to put the education aid program on a five-year basis.

The $20.4 million allocation in Arkansas runs through Aug. 31. One of the sad things about the program's operation in Arkansas was that many districts couldn't qualify for the full amount of their allocation. This was because of a requirement that a district could not receive Title I funds in excess of 30 per cent of its current operating budget.

Some 50 districts lost a considerable amount because of the requirement, Moore said.

Hughes, for example, was entitled to $329,791 in Title I funds, but 30 per cent of the district's operating budget was $164,193. Thus, the Hughes district lost $165,598—more than half of its allocation.

Four districts in Phillips County lost a total of $174,099.
